Art. 1 Event Description

The Perugia Student Bootcamp: Shaping the Future is an international intensive experience dedicated to active European citizenship and leadership development. It brings together 50 selected students (local and international) to strengthen critical thinking and civic awareness, providing a high-quality educational experience while also creating a dynamic space for dialogue between students and institutional representatives at both local and European levels.

The 2026 edition is designed as a one-off event, making it a unique opportunity to engage, learn, and contribute to shaping the future of Europe through student leadership. Get ready for a unique experience where ideas, dialogue, and student leadership come together to shape Europe's future.

Art. 2 Duration, Dates & Agenda

The event will take place from 12 to 15 October 2026. The Bootcamp unfolds over four dynamic days, alternating institutional moments with academic sessions and informal networking:

- Monday, 12 October: The journey begins in the early afternoon with the arrival of participants and check-in at the Collegio della Sapienza. The afternoon is dedicated to ice-breaking workshops and introductory sessions designed to foster mutual acquaintance and set the stage for the week's themes, concluding with an informal welcome reception.
- Tuesday, 13 October: This day focuses on the institutional and local dimension. Following a formal opening ceremony with representatives from all partner institutions. Participants will join a guided visit organized by the Municipality of Perugia to explore the local institutional context. The afternoon continues at the Collegio della Sapienza with thematic workshops facilitated by EucA.

- Wednesday, 14 October: The academic heart of the programme. Participants will attend specialized lectures hosted by the Università per Stranieri and the Università degli Studi di Perugia focusing on European governance. The afternoon returns to the Collegio for interactive labs where students can apply the concepts learned, followed by a social networking dinner.
- Thursday, 15 October: The final morning is dedicated to the concluding remarks, the awarding of certificates, and the official closing of the Bootcamp before departures.

Art. 3 Programme Structure

The Bootcamp is structured around two complementary pillars, designed to provide a 360-degree understanding of what it means to be a leader in Europe today:

- Pillar 1: Active European Citizenship & Democratic Participation. This component is dedicated to the critical understanding of European citizenship as an active practice. Participants will explore the institutional architecture of the EU, its core values, and the contemporary challenges threatening democratic stability. Through expert-led lectures and participatory formats like World Cafés and simulations, students will develop the civic awareness and critical thinking necessary to contribute to the future of the Union.
- Pillar 2: European Opportunities, Skills & Career Pathways. The second pillar focuses on concrete professional orientation. Participants will be guided through the various mobility programs, traineeships, and career paths available within EU institutions and international organizations. Simultaneously, workshops will focus on essential "soft skills" for international environments, such as intercultural teamwork, public speaking, and collaborative problem-solving.

This edition will be held in Perugia, Italy, fully in-person and conducted entirely in English, including all working sessions and academic activities.

As the program is a full-immersion experience involving debates, workshops, and simulations, a strong mastery of English is essential to ensure active and meaningful participation.

Art. 9 Methodology

The Bootcamp adopts an integrated pedagogical approach blending formal academic teaching with non-formal, experiential learning. This synergy is designed to foster an active, participatory, and intercultural environment where students are not merely recipients of information but active contributors to the collective dialogue and analysis.

The educational programme is delivered through three main formats:

- Frontal Lectures: Delivered by university professors and experts in European and international affairs, these sessions provide the theoretical and academic foundation for the Bootcamp's themes.
- Orientation Seminars: Specific sessions dedicated to identifying and navigating concrete opportunities for study, internships, and professional careers within European Union institutions and international programs.
- Interactive Workshops: Designed and facilitated by EucA, these sessions utilize non-formal education methodologies to bridge the gap between theory and practice. Participants will engage in World Cafés, group projects, simulations, and structured debates, all aimed at strengthening critical thinking and collaborative problem-solving.

This multifaceted methodology ensures a high-level learning experience, further enhanced by the residential setting of the Collegio di Merito della Sapienza, which serves as a laboratory for peer learning and intercultural exchange throughout the event.
